Experience the soul of Greenland

Packing list

We have prepared a packing list to assist you when packing for your journey. The packing list contains some general information as well as recommendations on what is useful to bring on this particular trip.

The packing list should be considered a guide to what you CAN bring, and not a list of items you MUST bring on the journey, as individual needs and preferences may vary. However, our experience shows that the items mentioned are useful to have with you.

Luggage

On this trip, your luggage will frequently be transported between different locations. We therefore strongly recommend bringing a large backpack with a capacity of 50–80 litres. It should be large enough to hold all of your personal belongings. Alternatively, you may bring a waterproof duffel bag or sports bag. A suitcase is not suitable for this trip.

It is a good idea to pack your luggage so that it is waterproof. We recommend bringing a few heavy-duty rubbish bags or plastic bags to line the inside of your backpack or bag and keep your belongings dry.

You should also bring a daypack for the hikes. We recommend a backpack with a good carrying system, including a hip belt and chest strap, to reduce strain on your shoulders and back. If possible, bring your daypack as your carry-on luggage on the flight.

Boots

It is essential to bring sturdy hiking boots with a stiff sole (such as Vibram) and good ankle support to help prevent ankle injuries. Your boots should also be waterproof, as some sections of the route pass through wet terrain. Make sure your boots are well broken in before the trip.

We also recommend travelling in your hiking boots or packing them in your hand luggage, just in case your checked baggage is unexpectedly delayed.

Other footwear

Lightweight footwear, such as trainers or sandals, is ideal for relaxing after a day's hike.

Water bottle

We recommend you bring a water bottle for the day trips.

Trekking poles

It is very individual how much benefit you get from using trekking poles and whether you choose to use one or two. You will need to find what works best for you. However, there are many advantages, and if the trekking pole(s) become inconvenient in certain terrain, they can easily be attached to your backpack – therefore, telescopic trekking poles are strongly recommended.

In general, the following benefits of trekking poles can be mentioned:

- They significantly improve balance on uneven and/or muddy terrain, in snow (mountain passes etc.) and when crossing streams.
- When used correctly, trekking poles significantly reduce strain on the knees, both during ascents and descents. This is especially relevant on high-route and summit hikes (grade 3-4 and above), where you often carry a heavier backpack and where the total elevation gain and hiking distance are considerable.

Trekking poles must be packed in your checked luggage during the flight. Remember to protect the tips to prevent damage to your luggage and other belongings.
